

MINING CAMP - ZIPAQUIRÁ – COLOMBIA

Mining Camp during Construction using Green Magic Homes technology in Zipaquirá, Department of Cundinamarca in Colombia, used to host executives of a coal extraction company in an extremely cold temperature area, which offers its executives a warm and comfortable interior throughout the year.

The camp will be fully covered with native plants of the region. Very exotic plants and animals are native to the Paramount of Duitama region that are uniquely beautiful and little known.

Construction carried out in a natural reserve area, where our technology presents an ideal solution, which completely mimics the landscape, without affecting the environment, preserving the harmony and beauty of the mountains of this Colombian region. A new concept of green construction where nature is once again the element of protection as it has been since the beginning of time, but with the comfort of our futuristic technology.
